

Miller & Chevalier 2020 Tax Policy Forecast Coronavirus Flash Survey

03.21.2020

What was shaping up to be another year of tax gridlock in Washington has, like seemingly everything else, been disrupted by the coronavirus outbreak. Lawmakers are now ready to reach across the aisle and draft the third relief package to address the detrimental economic impact the outbreak is having on the country.

With various proposals making their way through Congress, we checked in with top tax executives to gauge what legislative and administrative tax proposals being considered would be most helpful to their businesses and their likelihood of passage or implementation.

Click to view the report

The information contained in this communication is not intended as legal advice or as an opinion on specific facts. This information is not intended to create, and receipt of it does not constitute, a lawyer-client relationship. For more information, please contact one of the senders or your existing Miller & Chevalier lawyer contact. The invitation to contact the firm and its lawyers is not to be construed as a solicitation for legal work. Any new lawyer-client relationship will be confirmed in writing.

This, and related communications, are protected by copyright laws and treaties. You may make a single copy for personal use. You may make copies for others, but not for commercial purposes. If you give a copy to anyone else, it must be in its original, unmodified form, and must include all attributions of authorship, copyright notices, and republication notices. Except as described above, it is unlawful to copy, republish, redistribute, and/or alter this presentation without prior written consent of the copyright holder.