07.21.2021

James Tillen will participate in the panel discussion, "KBR and Brexit: Where Now for UK Enforcers?" at the GIR Live: London program on July 21, 2021. The panel will discuss what tools law enforcement can utilize in cross-border cases and will address such questions as:

- What does the recent Supreme Court ruling in the KBR case mean for UK investigations?
- How do other countries navigate cross-border investigations and responded to blocking statutes and regulations that restrict the collection and transfer of data?
- The future of Overseas Production Orders - what practical impact will they have, and can we expect similar agreements between the UK and other countries?
- How is Brexit impacting international law enforcement cooperation? What is the latest on the operation of the UK's extradition arrangements?
