

Six Steps to Emerging from Coronavirus with a Strengthened Compliance Program

COMPLIANCE WEEK

04.29.2020

In this column, Alejandra Montenegro Almonte and Ann Sultan provide six steps organizations can take now to support their compliance programs during the current crisis and beyond. "This crisis period – though disruptive in myriad unanticipated ways – can serve as an opportunity to reflect upon your compliance program both as it operates now and how it can adapt in future uncertain times," the authors wrote. "As we see the light at the end of the tunnel of this trying time, it is also an opportunity to strengthen your compliance program so that your company is best positioned in the coming months and years."