“A PERFECT STORM”

Navigating a corruption crisis

“A PERFECT STORM” Navigating a corruption crisis

An emerging crisis:

Jane Tyler has recently been appointed the CEO of an ailing privatised telecom business. Her job? - to turn the business around.

A reasonably easy assignment – fat organisation with no real strategy but with some highly valuable overseas licence agreements.

That is until allegations of corruption begin to emerge...

In this half-day seminar, Risk Advisory and leading US and UK experts will take you through a case study of an emerging corruption crisis and provide valuable insights on how to manage a crisis.

We anticipate demand to be high for this event. Attendance is by invitation only and places are strictly limited.

Tuesday 9th September 2008

The London Stock Exchange, 10 Paternoster Square, London EC4M 7LS

Chaired by Bill Waite, Group Chief Executive Officer of the The Risk Advisory Group, the panel includes:

Kathryn Cameron Atkinson and Homer Moyer of Miller & Chevalier, Peter Burrell of Herbert Smith, Jo Rickards of Peters & Peters and Henry Pugh of The Risk Advisory Group.
